

Successes in Business, Public Life to Keynote Chace Tribute

Plans are almost finished for the already near sell-out Testimonial Banquet in honor of Los Angeles County Supervisor Burton W. Chace, according to President Frank Stevenson of the sponsoring Surf Life Saving Assn. of America.

The career of Los Angeles County Supervisor Burton W. Chace has been characterized by success in business and public life.

A resident of Long Beach, Chace was appointed to the Los Angeles County Board of Supervisors on March 20, 1953, by Governor Earl Warren to succeed the late Raymond V. Darby.

NO STRANGER to public life, Chace first held public office in Long Beach in 1933, when he was elected a member of the Long Beach board of education. He served on the board of education for eight years, part of this time as its president.

In 1945, he was first elected to the Long Beach city council. Two years later, 1947, he was honored by his colleagues on the council by being named mayor of the City of Long Beach and was twice re-elected. He was serving his sixth year as mayor when he was appointed Supervisor by the Governor. In June, 1954, Supervisor Chace was elected to serve the unexpired term; and in June, 1956, he was re-elected to a full 4-year term as Supervisor, Fourth District.

CHACE IS also a member of the Coliseum Commission and, at present, is president of that body. He is chairman of the County Sanitation Districts and recently was elected a member of the board of directors of the Hollywood Bowl.

He was first chosen as chairman of the Board of Supervisors in March of 1956 and was again named to the chairman's post by his colleagues in December of 1957. He voluntarily relinquished the chairmanship in December of 1958.

Equally successful has been his career as a businessman. Following extensive work in the municipal bonding field in Omaha, Nebr., he moved to Long Beach. In 1923, he and his father established the Chace Lumber Co. in Long Beach, which they successfully operated for 27 years. His lumber facilities are now under lease. His real estate holdings include a trailer park, motel, and apartment house.

CHACE is also an active participant in church and civic affairs. He is a past lay leader of the Methodist Church, a former President of the Armed Services YMCA, a member of the Long Beach Builder's Exchange, the Kiwanis Club, Chamber of Commerce, and many other business and civic organizations.

He attended the University of Nebraska. He is married and resides with his wife at the family home in Long Beach. Mr. and Mrs. Chace have two daughters: Coni, now Mrs. V. Raymond Townsend Jr., and Paula, now Mrs. Ralph Irwin. The Chaces are the proud grandparents of Stephen and William Townsend.

Boys Republic Asks Names for Mailing Lists

This is the season of the year when, in the preparation of Della Robbia Christmas wreath notification mailing lists, Republic boys ask each California citizen to send in his or her address for inclusion in that list.

"At no time other than the Fall mailing does this 52-year-old farm-school for broken home boys send out literature, and at no time does it send out requests for contributions," explains Board President Joseph B. Rice Jr., and Director Frank W. Graves.

In seeking customers rather than contributions, it is felt that great progress has been made in the science of directing youth in channels toward strong, self-reliant character habits, as well as in forming life-long traits of industry and achievement.

BOYS REPUBLIC, founded in 1907, occupies a 240-acre farm-school five miles south of Pomona, where 130 young citizens learn to live, work, play, and govern themselves, in a miniature community; the first of its kind, incidentally, in the entire country, according to available records. Each cottage-dormitory is supervised by a housemother, who gives, in many cases, the only "mothering" the boy has ever had. Dedicated counselors, case workers, and staff members, have but one goal at Boys Republic, "To mold from a confused, unhappy boy, a productive, happy, California citizen," who will, like most of the 5200 who have gone before, reflect honor and credit to their Alma Mater.

THE BEAUTIFUL, and well known Della Robbia (so called because it is patterned upon ceramic wreaths originally created by that family in the 15th century), is ideal for the average home, for personal and business gifts, and very modestly priced. Its sale provides the Republic with about 40% of its operating needs. No obligation is entailed, of course, in a request for the information leaflet, which will be mailed around November 1st, according to Graves.

Just address: BOYS REPUBLIC, Chino, California.

The Pisgah, Nantahala and Croatan national forests recently consolidated in one unit in North Carolina comprise more than one million acres—about 1-18 of the state's forest lands.

Vets' Widows May Be Eligible For Home Loans

Veterans Service Officer, Bessie D. Slonecker today advised widows of wartime veterans in this area that they may be eligible for state or federal home loans.

A widow of a California veteran may be eligible for a "Cal-Vet" loan if the veteran had established his eligibility as one who was born in or entered the service from this state. In other words, she would be in line for the loan to which the deceased veteran had established his unused right, if she has not remarried.

Cal-Vet loans are made up to $15,000 for a home and $40,000 for a farm. The widow and the desired property would have to qualify along the same lines as for a veteran's loan on the basis of income, debts, suitability of the property, and so forth.

In the case of federal "GI" loans, veterans' unremarried widows of this or any state may be eligible if the death of the veteran resulted from a service-connected disability, or if the deceased died during service.

Such widows are eligible for either direct loans, from the Veterans Administration, or a loan guaranteed by the Veterans Administration, depending upon which type is available in the area where the loan is to be used. As in the case of Cal-Vet loans, qualification requirements are essentially the same for a widow as for a veteran.

Widows of World War II veterans must make application for federal GI loans before July 25, 1960 and widows of Korean conflict veterans have until January 31, 1965.

There is no time limit on applications for Cal - Vet loans, either for widows or veterans.

Further information on these and other benefits for veterans, dependents and survivors is obtainable from the service office at 1622 Gramercy.
